

HOTEL BROSUNDET

a place to dream

A place to dream

A little imagination and you will sense history when you gaze out the windows of Hotel Brosundet. 100 years ago the person leaning out these windows would have been someone waiting for a fishing-boat to deliver its catch. The old Art Nouveau warehouse is now transformed into a tasteful hotel.

Our hotel is a retreat for your stay in Ålesund. Hotel Brosundet is small and intimate with only 47 rooms. This size enables our staff to have an eye for each guest and we can take extra care of every visiting person. The staff consists of people with extensive knowledge of the town and its surrounding areas. They will give you directions to events and assist you in the services you require. Our staff are eager to make your stay as enjoyable as possible and your day here as complete as it can be.

A place to appreciate

Hotel Brosundet has been created around the idea of treasuring our history, while focusing on the future. The atmosphere is light. It is intimate and friendly, yet each room is as a sanctuary for your privacy. This is the place to dream on a pillow by the sea.

Each room has been individually created in respect to the buildings past through the designs and comforts of today. Interior designers from the award winning architects Snøhetta have eloquently worked on our bedrooms. Snøhetta is renowned for the library at Alexandria and the creation of Oslo's new opera house. At Hotel Brosundet, Snøhetta have redefined the original layout and purpose of the building. This respectful mix of past and present offers an insight to the qualities of both.

The jewel in our treasury-box is Room 47. Only a few minutes walk from the hotel lies the old and picturesque seawall of Molja. Our room 47 is the old lighthouse at the end of the rocky wall. It is just 12 m<sup>2</sup> and circular in shape. The lighthouse has been restored and it is furnished with a bed and bathroom facilities of the finest quality. Room 47 is a hide-away and an enchanting experience.

A place to explore

Distances are short in small towns. Hotel Brosundet is nestled amidst residential homes, distinguished shops, seabirds, and boats. It is in the heart of Ålesund, yet at a comforting distance from busy streets. Everything is within walking distance. Five minutes on your feet can take you to a glassblower workshop, concert venue, bank, café, church, art and Art Nouveau museum, or shopping centre.

Ålesund is situated on islands in the midst of the frothing sea. Like a fairytale vision the art nouveau buildings of the town centre rise up from the rough sea. The town is surrounded by contrasted scenery. To the west, a chain of islands create a rocky pearl necklace and gives Ålesund a remote shelter from the rough North Sea. To the east the sun rises from behind snow-capped Alps. There is drama in every direction and the short distances allow you to explore it all.

The local travel-experience creator 62° NORD owns Hotel Brosundet. This provides you, as our guest, with an unrivalled opportunity to experience first-hand what our unique nature has to offer.

A place to work

It may be your work that brings you to town. We are aware of the needs of a business traveller and we will do our utmost to make your stay both efficient and pleasant. Each bedroom has a small workspace where the designers have made an effort to create the best environment for your working needs. We maintain an atmosphere where well-being is a treasured quality. Little fishing-boats will go peacefully by your window. And salty sea air will delightfully refresh you when opening the window towards the sound. Our free wireless internet makes connection easy. It brings you closer to those you left behind even if you are far away.

In our penthouse suite, you will find a boardroom. This is available for you if meetings are required. Located on the top floor of the hotel, meetings can be held without interference.

You will find Hotel Brosundet in a quiet part of the town centre, but still in the midst of its energy. It is also close to any connections you need to make. Neither the airport, nor Ålesund's neighbouring areas are hard to get to.

moments in between

A place to savour

Our lounge is a warm experience. The venue is laid back, small, intimate, and candlelit. This is a place for winding down, and a pit stop for those moments in between. The lounge is also flexible enough for the more informal meeting. It is for meetings between business partners, friends, colleagues, and lovers. Our lounge is a communication spot and it is a do-nothing-place.

Our seafood restaurant, Maki, completes your stay at Hotel Brosundet. The old warehouse on the water is, yet again, receiving seafood from the North Sea. The circle is closed. However. This time around the seafood is not just passing through the warehouse, but enhanced to ambrosial dishes by the chefs at Maki. Maki's ideology prides itself on creative and innovative use of the regions fish and seafood. Through the hands and gifted minds of skilled chefs their seafood becomes a delightful experience. The menu changes every 14 days. A challenge for creative chefs, and an exploration for the guest.

Both Maki and the hotel lounge give wine the attention it deserves. Good wines, well treated and tempered, served by friendly hands.
